LINDENTHORPE NOTES

A Strong List of Attractions for Next Week

Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather of the past few days, a large number of people have visited Lindenthorpe Park, which is growing more popular every day. On Thursday, the Norwood Lutheran Sunday School and the Reformed Episcopal Church of Wilmington, visited the park and spent a very enjoyable time. In the evening almost a thousand people were on the grounds. The vaudeville performance this week excels that of last week and is a very enjoyable one.

Next week the management will present a very strong bill. Among the performers will be: Prof. Powell, the well-known magician; Lewis Randle, the greatest buck and wing dancer in the country; Clayton, the strong man, will give exhibitions of his strength; James W. Reagan, the sweet toned singer, who is at the park this week, and has made a decided hit, will be in attendance next week; Carr and Tawgee, two very fine cornets, will also perform, and The Gees, in a refined musical act, will give one of their enjoyable performances.

This is an exceptionally strong bill and will no doubt be a great drawing card.

On Monday evening next, the large dancing pavilion will be opened and the music will be furnished by an orchestra of ten pieces.

Another attraction will be added to park next week in the shape of a number of ponies, and a pony track is being constructed.

The German Baptist Sunday School of Wilmington will give an excursion to the park on Tuesday next, and on Thursday the Sharon Hill and Ridley Park Methodist Sunday Schools will be at the park.

A large canvas tent has been erected on the lawn and is a great convenience to the patrons.

Clayton, the strong an, has a striking machine at the park.

The management will erect a number of bicycle racks for the convenience of bicyclers, on the lawn near the razzle dazzle.

A number of additional seats are to be erected for those witnessing the performance.

The number of paid admissions to the park is rapidly nearing the 100,000 mark and if all these tickets were placed in a straight line, they would reach three miles and 260 years.
