HISTOGRAPHY

MEDIA

By Frederick T. Cooper.

Media has no common origin. Unlike most centers of population it cannot trace its inception to a cross-roads store, tavern and smith-shop. On the contrary, it came into being like the great neighboring City of Philadelphia, as the result of a well considered design, that it should be the "capital" of a prosperous body politic.

The incorporation of the Borough of Media was affected by an Act of Assembly approved on the eleventh of March, 1850, whereby the inhabitants residing within the limits particularly set forth in the Act and which contained about 520 acres, were erected into a body politic in fact and in law under the name and title of "The Burgess and Town Council of the Borough of Media."

Besides the old Friends' Meeting House on Providence Road and the dozen or so of other buildings within the verge of the new town at the time of its incorporation, there was nothing but the most rural of aspects in every direction. When the commissioners in the autumn of 1849, invited the citizens of the county to be present at their first sale of lots, the place selected for holding the sale was in a cornfield.

What great changes have taken place since the birth of Media. From a few scattered farm houses within Media's confines it has grown to a population of nearly 4,000.

In municipal and Social organization the borough of Media is now fully abreast of any community of its kind in the State. The members of its councils are men of affairs. Add to these our unrivalled situation, well improved streets lighted by municipal electricity, frequent trains in both directions, the terminus of seven trolley lines, telegraph and telephone connections, gas, a steam fire engine, combination hose and chemical wagon and other fire appliances, excellent postal arrangements, a great variety of stores and business places, well supplied markets, abundance of schools of all grades, churches of all the leading denominations, a quarter of a million dollar court house, and soon a seventy thousand dollar post office. Taken as a whole the residences of Media are equal to any in the world.

Media is a very popular resort for summer boarders. Idlewild, Charter House, Colonial and Brooke Hall are, in the summer seasons, filled to overflowing with Philadelphians and others who desire, and who find the country air, the shade and quiet and coolness of the open, without the isolation and the numberless inconveniences of back-wood and remote, unpeopled hills. This has a most beneficial result upon the town. Many who come to spend a month return as permanent residents. The character of these and other settlers has to some extent been determined by the prohibition clause of the charter. Those who have made a careful study of the matter are of the opinion that Media's growth in population has not been retarded in the least by its peculiar provision against the sale of intoxicants, and further, that the average character of its citizens has been affected thereby most beneficially. Opinions may vary as regards such questions. The fact remains that without the aid of any large manufactures, without any boon influence, and without any legalized provision for the quenching of alcoholic thirst, Media has grown peacefully and wholesomely.

Media has whatever makes for health and long life, which is the result of clear and wholesome air, water and streets, together with the natural advantages of Media's situation as regards drainage. These things we owe in part to nature and in part to wise management of the town's past and present rulers. Media is elevated three hundred feet above tide, but it is only three miles from the terrace bounding the lowlands of the river.

HISTOGRAPHY

To the west, the landscape is not devoid of wildness. Scroggie valley, a "little brother of great Chester Valley," with its lake and its rill, the wide vale of Ridley Creek, closing itself by degree in the tangled hills to the northwest; Mineral Hill, rugged and scarred; the heights of Lima and the stately dome of Elwyn.

Media is located about five miles north of Chester, eleven miles, in straight line east-by-south from West Chester, and about twelve miles west of Philadelphia. Steam communication with Philadelphia is by the Central Division of the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington Railroad. There are twenty-five trains each way daily, several of which are express. The time between Media and Broad Street Station by express trains is twenty-two minutes. The same railroad gives frequent and satisfactory communication with West Chester, Kennett Square, Oxford and Port Deposit.

The extension of the Philadelphia & Garrettford Company's line to Media opened for passenger service on Tuesday, April 1st, 1913. This road is built exclusively on private right of way from 69th Street Terminal of the Philadelphia Market Street Subway and Elevated, through the Townships of Upper Darby, Springfield, Nether Providence, thence over State street to Orange street in the Borough of Media. The distance from 69th Street Terminal, Philadelphia, to Media is 8.59 miles, and the running time 25 minutes. Trains run at half-hourly intervals, leaving the terminal points, 69th street, Philadelphia, and State and Orange streets, in the Borough of Media, at two minutes past the hour and half-hour daily. The fare from 69th Street Terminal to Media is 10c.

The Delaware County and Philadelphia Electric Railway runs its cars every half hour during the day. At Angora connection is made with the Traction Company's cars running to the foot of Chestnut street, Philadelphia. The fare from Media to Angora is 10c. The trip to Angora is made in forty minutes.

The P. R. T. trolley lines operate between Media and Darby, and at the latter point connects with cars running into Philadelphia. Cars between the two points run every twenty minutes. The trip between Media and Darby is made in one hour. The fare is 10c.

Between Media and Chester there are two trolley lines, the Southern Pennsylvania Traction Company and the P. R. T. Each make the trip between the county seat and the metropolis of the county in forty minutes. The fare on the Southern Pennsylvania line is 10c.; on the P. R. T. line 5c. Cars on either line run every half hour each way.

The Media-Glen Riddle branch of the Philadelphia & Delaware County traction Company is operated between Media and Glen Riddle, through Middletown township. Cars run each way over this line every hour. The fare is 5c.

Financial Institutions.

In all its history, Media has never had a misfortune in any of its financial institutions—more than this there has never been a fear of one. The private banking of the earliest years of the town was in experienced hands, but all of these quietly yielded the right of way to the First National Bank when it was organized, and this right of way it still holds by virtue of age, strength and a firm continuance of only the best banking methods. So high is its reputation that in the scale of merit adopted by the United States Treasury and applied by its Comptroller to all the National Banks in the United States, the First National Bank of Media stands within forty-six in the United States. William H. Miller is president; Robert Fussell is Cashier.

The Media Title & Trust Company is one of the prominent financial institutions of Media and of the County at large. Capital, $125,000; surplus, $125,000. The company does a general banking business and fills all the usual duties of a trust company, such as acting as guardian, administrator, etc. One of its features invites small savings for which 3 per cent. interest is paid to depositors.

HISTOGRAPHY

The Charter National Bank has a capitalization of $50,000, a good surplus, and is especially popular with the farming community, which is always the "back-bone" of a successful business.

Newspapers.

Media has two weekly newspapers, the "Delaware County American," established in 1855, and has never missed an issue to date. It is published under the firm name of Thomas V. Cooper & Sons, and is issued on Saturdays.

The Delaware County Record, which is published on Saturdays by Joseph Chadwick, was founded on March 23, 1878, and is newsy and prosperous.

MOYLAN

Population, 300.

Distance, 13.3 miles. 21 trains each way on week-days, 9 on Sundays. Running time: express, 26 minutes; accommodation, 36 minutes.

From an architectural standpoint, and by reason of the distinctively picturesque character of its immediate environments, Moylan in the past few years has become one of the most noteworthy of the many attractive towns developed along the Central Division. The town is widely scattered; the homes have been built singly with ample surrounding grounds, and as most of the development at this point has been within the past five or six years the architecture of the houses is of the most modern type and varied style, presenting a refreshing diversity in plans of suburban building. A large colony of homes has been here located costing from $6000 to $60,000 each.

An air of refinement and culture pervading the place possibly explains why so many of similar taste and social status are building here their summer homes or permanent suburban abiding places.

Land for building purposes costs from $1500 to $3000 an acre. Near by lies the far-famed Rose Valley, so beautiful and picturesque that a colony of artists was here located; and until a few years back art students came from afar with pallette and brush to revel in its scenes of beauty. Through the valley flows the Ridley Creek, but perched on the crests and sides of its hills are now the homes of wealth and refinement, and appreciative suburban home-hunters are rapidly appropriating the remaining available sites. Good water is supplied from Media and schools and churches are in close proximity.

WALLINGFORD

Population, 900.

Distance, 12.4 miles. 20 trains each way on week-days, 9 on Sundays. Running time: express, 23 minutes; accommodation, 33 minutes.

One of the many delightful suburbs of Philadelphia, with diversified scenes of woodland and meadow, is the attractive settlement of Wallingford. Scattered homes of a pretentious type, with well-kept landed estates, dot the landscape. There is but one small general store, Methodist and Presbyterian churches, Springfield water, and a public school. The Spring Haven Country Club is one and one-quarter miles from the station. While land is high, running from $2000 to $3000 an acre, near the station, its value does not seem to retard the continued development of the place or lessen the erection of high class residential properties.

MORTON

Population, 1071.

Distance, 10 miles. 21 trains each way on week-days, 10 on Sundays. Running time: express, 19 minutes; accommodation, 27 minutes.

The borough of Morton, lying to the north of the station, with the growing residential borough of Rutledge, starting about one block to the south of the tracks of the Pennsylvania Railroad, provide a most promising section for suburban development.

Although separate boroughs, both have much in common. They have electric lights, good water, schools, and Episcopal, Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Catholic churches.

The better residential district is located in Rutledge, where there is developing a colony of brick and stone dwellings of the most modern character, and, with the newer buildings have come cement sidewalks and improved paving.

In Morton is located a substantial block of business properties, with various stores to supply the needs of the growing community.

As a residential section Rutledge has much to commend it. Its situation in close proximity to the city, excellent transit facilities and ease of communication with nearby flourishing communities, together with its rural nature, united with many city conveniences, are admitted advantages which contribute to its prosperity and growth.

Houses in Morton rent from $10 to $25 monthly, and in Rutledge from $18 to $35, while building lots may be purchased from $200 to $300 and upwards according to location.

No liquors are sold nor saloons permitted in either Morton or Rutledge.

SWARTHMORE

By Julia R. Hazard.

Swarthmore, 11.3 miles from Philadelphia, is a beautifully situated borough with superior educational advantages. The air is pure and healthful, the elevation at the highest point is 225 feet. Population 2250, about four hundred residences.

The village has grown up around Swarthmore College which occupies a commanding position upon a hill not far from the centre of the town; the campus is spoken of as the finest in the country. The college property comprises over two hundred acres of ground, including a large tract of woodland and the beautiful rocky valley of Crum Creek.

The Friends' School for Social and Religious Education has been opened recently. Its purpose is to strengthen fellowship and community of effort by unifying common principles and ideals without advocating particular doctrines, theories or beliefs.

The headquarters of the famous Chautauqua Association are located here.

With one of the finest public schools in the State and excellent private schools, Swarthmore has exceptional educational advantages over most suburban places.

In the Swarthmore Preparatory School the borough has a boys' school with a strong faith in the undeveloped possibilities of each boy. It stands firmly for broad religious training, for human efficiency and service for all, to result in universal brotherhood and international peace. The Mary Lyon School for young ladies is of a high standard, and Miss Barr's School is the best of its kind.

In the Woman's Club, Swarthmore has an organization that is very helpful; its members take a keen interest in social and civic problems. Streets are well paved, police and fire protection is amply provided for. There is a free delivery of mail. Building restrictions are placed at a reasonable limit. There are four churches, one bank, one local paper—The Swarthmore News—good stores of various kinds, no saloons.

As a summer resort Swarthmore is very popular. Strath Haven Inn is far famed for its beautiful location and excellent service. There are many fine residences, well-kept grounds and magnificent shade trees; the whole region is picturesquely beautiful.

ALDAN & CLIFTON HEIGHTS

ALDAN

To the south of the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks, which are here elevated above the street level, is located the exceedingly attractive and recently developed residential borough of Aldan, with a population of 661.

The streets are all well paved, sidewalks cemented. Houses are of modern architecture, many of stone and brick, or rough casted, and several are of the most artistic bungalow type.

No liquors are sold in Aldan and a pleasing social atmosphere pervades the borough, towards which the Neighbors' Club largely contributes, by many and varied forms of entertainment. There is one church located here, undenominational in character, known as the Pentecostal Church, which has the unique feature of never soliciting any financial aid nor taking up any collections at any of its services.

Houses rent in Aldan from $15 to $30 monthly, and sell from $2000 up to $5000.

CLIFTON HEIGHTS, PA.

Population, 3155.

(Compiled by L. M. Turner)

Distance, 7.6 miles. 20 trains each way on week-days, 9 on Sundays. Running time: express, 16 minutes; accommodation, 20 minutes.

Clifton Heights is 7 miles from Broad Street Station, Philadelphia. It is a borough one mile long and one-half mile wide, with Darby Creek running through the center.

As a matter of general information for the public the following notes of interest have been gleaned from representative citizens. We are indebted to Mr. Palmer, Real Estate Agent; Councilman John A. McGirney and Miss Elizabeth Grisdale for the information.

On the southern border of the old industrial settlement of Clifton Heights is located the station of Clifton.

The population of Clifton Heights is mainly employed in the large woolen, hosiery and worsted mills at that point, and several large mills manufacture Turkish towels exclusively.

The town is lighted with electricity, has Springfield water, excellent fire protection, and the newer sections have well paved streets and cement sidewalks. There are good schools and Methodist, Episcopal, Presbyterian and Roman and Greek Catholic churches. Houses rent from $12 to $30 a month.

LIMA M. E. CHURCH.

W. Howard Michener, Pastor.

Sunday School 9.15 A. M. Bible Class 9.30 A. M. Preaching 10.30 A. M. and 7.45 P. M. Christian Endeavor 7 P. M. Prayer Meeting every Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock.

A wave of religious concern spread over the country from 1830 to 1835 and the increase in membership in the denominations led to an unusual activity in church building; in which the Methodists took the lead in Delaware County. It was during this period that the Lima Church came into existence. From this neighborhood the folk mostly attended Stony Bank or Mount Hope Churches. Several became converted and by 1833 a class was formed—the seventh in the county. In this class, effecting the church organization, were William L. Fox and his sister Eleanor, James Permar, John Pyle and four others—two of whom, probably, were Ellen Hughes and Mira McCally. This new church society was placed in charge of James Riddle, and at first met at the home of William L. Fox, in the angle of the Lima road, opposite the store. After about six months an old frame building, a schoolhouse on the Smedley property, standing at the forks of the road about a quarter mile west of the Black Horse Tavern was rented, and services held in it by the circuit preachers. Here the worshippers suffered much annoyance. Upon one occasion some sons of Belial climbing up on the roof placed boards over the chimney and smoked the congregation out. But they soon grew in numbers sufficient to secure a church of their own. On August 19th, 1835, for seventy-five dollars, John Rattew conveyed to Henry Permer, Charles McCalley, John Pyle, Lewis M. Pike, John Daniels, Seth Rigby, William L. Fox, of Middletown; Caleb G. Archer, of Aston; and Joshua Smith, of Edgmont, Trustees, one acre of ground. On this they built a stone meeting house. This, in rebuilding in 1873, was enlarged. It was dedicated on Sunday, April 6th, 1873. The society was incorporated March 23rd, 1874, as "Lima Methodist Episcopal Church."

Joseph Parsons, then 18 years old, joined the class of '33 and remained a member of this church until his death, in 1901—a period of 68 years. He was intimately associated with it as local preacher, class leader and Sunday School superintendent. His wife was Ellen Hughes—inentioned above.

Joseph Iliff was a class leader here half century ago.

Edward Gill is the present pastor.

William W. Turner, its Sunday School superintendent, was an early member of Kedron Church and a former resident of Springfield township.

GLENOLDEN

The accompanying description and information regarding the beautiful and thriving Borough of Glenolden was compiled by us with the desire of reaching those who contemplate locating in the suburbs and to induce home-seekers to settle in the country, where every convenience of city life is afforded them, united with the pleasures and quietness of a suburban home.

The population of Glenolden is about 2000. Eight miles distant from Philadelphia.

Highest point of land between Philadelphia and Wilmington, rolling ground, fine natural drainage, healthy and free from malaria and kindred ailments.

Has fine graded schools, churches, stores, fire department and Y. M. C. A. No saloons or liquor licenses.

Attractive building operations and borough improvements constantly going on. More houses were erected in this place in the past few years than any two boroughs on Chester Pike.

Many fine residences with beautiful and well-kept grounds are found on the main streets of the Borough.

The ornate buildings and attractive grounds of the H. K. Mulford Company, biological laboratories, the largest institution of the kind in the world, are located East and South of the Pennsylvania R. R. station.

The attractive character of the rolling woodland to the East of the Pennsylvania R. R. has led to the erection of many beautiful properties in this new section of the town. Glenolden Manor in this section and other points in the borough afford admirable and unequalled building sites with fine views of scenic beauty.

HISTOGRAPHY

The heights, around which flows the Muckinapates Creek, offers some splendid bungalow plots.

The new bridge, which will span this picturesque stream at Glenolden Avenue, opens up a drive way to the ridge on the South which overlooks the Delaware River. This section will afford some magnificent sites for homes and small estates heretofore not easy of access.

Property subject to less taxation than corresponding values in Philadelphia or adjacent boroughs.

Twenty-two trains each way on week days. Ten on Sundays. Running time eighteen minutes.

Glenolden and Ridley Park

RIDLEY PARK

Sacrificing the straight line for the "Line of Beauty," many of the wide streets and avenues of this beautiful suburb are laid out in graceful curves, bordered by old shade trees and verdant lawns, fronting stately homes, set well back from the building line, presenting a pleasing scene of rural beauty.

Ridley Park is admittedly one of the most attractive of the suburban boroughs, and one of the most inviting, to the seeker after an all-satisfying home location, with city facilities and the charm of pleasing semi-rural life.

The ground is high and rolling, and the numerous parks scattered over the borough are being beautified by the efforts of an energetic civic association.

Macadamized streets, cement sidewalks, sewerage, gas, electricity, Springfield water, a school with a four-year High School course, and the absence of saloons, are features which appeal to the home-seeker.

There is a good fire department, a new Carnegie Library, an auditorium seating 500, with a kitchen, stage and scenery; stores; Presbyterian, Episcopal, Methodist, Baptist, and Catholic churches, but no industries.

HISTOGRAPHY

The Ridley Park Social Club, a golf club, tennis club, gun club, literary club, and women's club, and a dramatic organization with 250 active members, provide recreation and entertainment for the residents. There are no hotels and but a few scattering boarding houses. Houses may be rented from $25 to $50 monthly, or purchased for $4000 to $45,000, or land can be had without burdensome restrictive features.

PROSPECT PARK--MOORE'S STA.

Compiled by Harold A. Lantz

Population, 1,700.

Distance, 9.5 miles. 20 trains each way on week-days, 10 on Sundays. Running time, 22 minutes.

This attractive suburb is characterized by beautiful homes, on exceptionally wide, well graded streets, with cement sidewalks and spacious, well-kept lawns, generously dotted with wide-spreading shade trees, giving that rural touch of beauty which so delights those seeking the quiet of a country home.

The town has a variety of stores, gas, electricity, an abundance of good water, a Masonic Hall, a competent fire company, a good sewerage system, and, still standing, is the White Horse Hotel, established in 1770.

Houses may be rented for $20 to $35 monthly, although the present demand rather exceeds the supply, and may be purchased at from $3000 to $12,000.

The Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian and Episcopalian denominations each have ornate churches.

The modern station of the Pennsylvania Railroad, with its elevated tracks, is conveniently located, easy of access to the business interests on the east or the developing residential section to the west.

NORWOOD

Population, 1,700.

Distance, 9.0 miles. 18 trains each way on week-days, 10 on Sundays. Running time, 20 minutes.

This is a delightful suburb, with great wide thoroughfares, many beautiful modern residences, fronted with velvety lawns, fine old shade trees, good roads, mostly stone, cement sidewalks, and, extending eastward from the Chester Pike, a good-sized public park.

Westward from the line of the railroad many residences of the better class have been erected and the progressive trend of building operations is in this direction.

There are no hotels, but excellent boarding houses are maintained. No intoxicating liquors are sold, nor saloons permitted to locate in this borough.

Methodist, Lutheran, Roman Catholic and Episcopal church edifices are found, several thriving fraternal organizations here abide, and, nearing completion, is a $40,000 public school building, which will supply educational facilities up to and including the High School grades.

HISTOGRAPHY

Springfield water, stores, gas, electricity, and a satisfactory sewerage system are all provided, and houses may be rented from $16 to $60 a month, or purchased at figures varying from $3,000 to $12,000.

The Century Club has a modest little home near the station, and the many social features and entertainments, provided under its auspices, materially add to the charms of this town, as a place for home building.

School Board—Dr. H. C. Dooling, President; Robt. Lewis, Treasurer; Jacob Loos, Secretary; Samuel L. Hayes, J. Preston Shannon.

Board of Health—Herman Laughlin, Dr. F. H. Bassett, Albert Cross, Dr. J. H. Sterner, Mrs. Weston.

Borough Council—Gordon Chambers, Burgess; E. F. Chambers, President; Samuel L. Hayes, Treasurer; A. W. McClellan, Clerk; Reuben Bonsall, Andrew Clothier, Jno. S. High, J. L. Lafferty, Wm. J. MacCarter, Wm. R. Wilson.

SHARON HILL

Population, 1,500.

Distance, 7.2 miles. 22 trains each way on week-days, 12 on Sundays. Running time, 14 minutes.

To those who seek the joy of living in the quiet of the country, away from the noise and din of the city, this place offers many attractions.

On the line of the Chester Pike, not far from the course of the Delaware River, and but fourteen minutes ride from Broad Street Station, the home-seeker would surely be difficult to please who could not find here the home advantages he desires.

The railroad station is conveniently located in the centre of the town, the tracks being depressed to avoid the dangers incident to grade crossings.

There are no hotels nor boarding houses, but many handsome dwellings, fronting wide, shaded streets, with good, substantial stone roads and, in most instances, excellent cement sidewalks.

The town has Springfield water, a drainage system, electric light and gas, a public school, and recently, for better fire protection, the local fire company has installed an auto fire truck and hose and chemical engine combined.

Well equipped stores supply the immediate demands of the residents, who enjoy a free delivery from all the big department stores of the city. No liquors are sold in the borough, nor saloons permitted to exist.

There are several small industries and a large nursery plant within the borough limits.

Roman Catholic and Methodist and Presbyterian churches are here located.

Modern homes, in most cases with ample ground, may be rented from $18 to $40 a month, or purchased at prices varying from $3,000 to $10,000.
